Don't Experiment

Just Buy a FORD

There is all the difference in the world between actual power and rated power. Compare a Ford demonstration of horse-power with that of other cars and you will be convinced.

A Chapter on Accessibility

The old adage that the simplest is the best is very true of automobiles. The car with the simplest mechanism is the one that is going to visit the repair-shop least often. A comparison of the Ford with other cars will reveal the fact that it is from 25 to 50 per cent less complicated in mechanism. This means a correspondingly low bill of costs when any part does have to be put right. The Ford is strictly an accessible car. Then there's the tire question to be taken into consideration. Ford tires are easily put on and taken off, which means that such a tire can be repaired at half the cost which would be chalked up for putting a less simply adjusted tire into commission.

JAPANESE ON STRIKE

Other passengers corroborate Mr. Robertson's statement. Inquiries at the office of H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., the agents for the Pioneer Mill Co., Ltd., failed to elicit any further information, it being stated that nothing had been heard from the manager. C. Brewer & Co., Ltd., are agents for Wailuku. It is not known whether further violence occurred after the sailing of the Kinau, causing the manager to send his messages to Henry and Jones, but it is thought that these messages were merely precautionary measures. The local police force is ready, however, and should a call come a company will be sent by special steamer.

THE WAILUKU STRIKE.

Yesterday's Maui News gives the following particulars about the strike on Wailuku plantation:

Between two and three hundred Japanese field laborers from the Wailuku Camp and the mill hands of the Wailuku Sugar Co. struck last Monday forenoon.

The trouble came about over the two dollars raise which was agreed upon some time ago by the Planters' Association.

It appears that the main instigators of the present strike who are truck and mill men, were given a raise prior to the general raise, and when the two dollars per month additional was given, these few men, less than ten, were not included, and as a consequence struck and the balance of the mill hands and the field hands of the Wailuku Camp went out with them.

Manager Wells explained to them through an interpreter that these truck and mill men had been given the additional stipend prior to the general advance and as a consequence did not recognize their present demand. He gave them until the following morning to decide on whether they proposed to go back to work or get their pay and vacate. They decided upon the latter course. Meetings were held daily at the church.

Wednesday morning, T. Mori, secretary to Consul Saito, came over at the request of C. Brewer & Company, to learn the exact contention of the men.

In speaking of the matter, Thursday morning Mr. Mori said: I came over here at the request of Manager Wells and the agents C. Brewer and Co. and after listening to the complaints of the men and their six demands, I explained to Manager Wells what these claims were.

"Mr. Wells positively refused to listen to their demands which are unreasonable, but said that if the men wished to go back to work he would have them. I explained to the men that their going out on a strike was unwarranted and their demands unjust, and that they had better return to their labor."

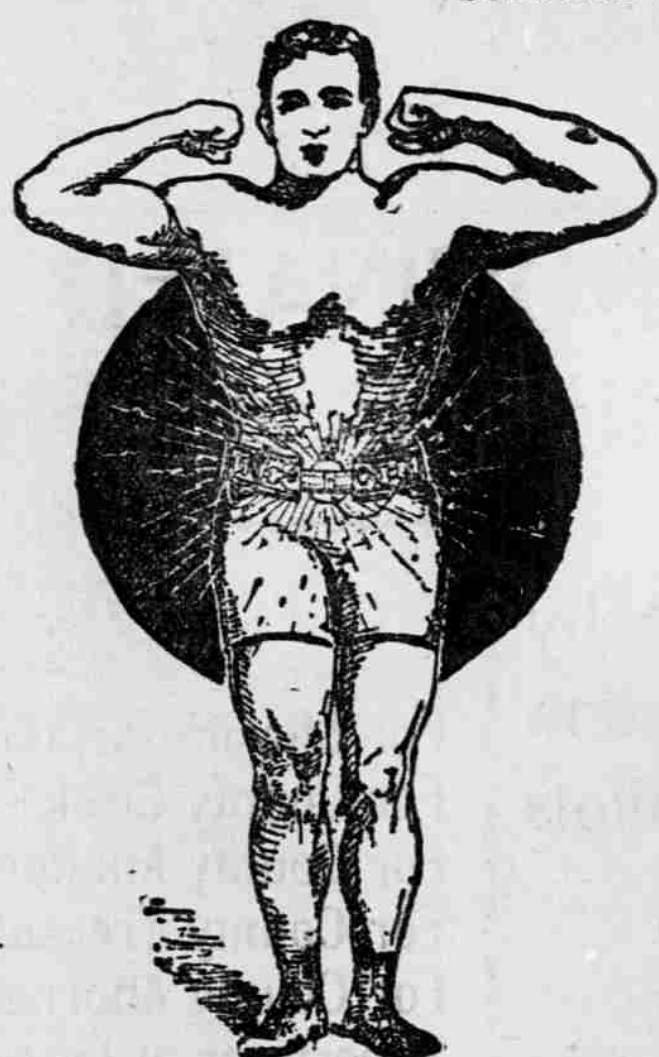

The strike was unwarranted and the majority are anxious to go back to work but are only waiting for a concession to one of their demands as an excuse to return.

All of the demands of the strikers with the exception of those of hospital, time system and firewood have been withdrawn and it is believed that one or more of these demands can be adjusted so that the strikers will have their conscience eased sufficiently to permit their returning to work.

At a conference Thursday afternoon

MEN, HERE'S AN OFFER!

SUPPOSE YOU ARE A WEAK MAN.

I'm curing them every day. Here are a few men who recently answered "Cured."

Arnold F. Berri of Marshall, Cal., says I cured him after the failure of doctors.

Hugh Fraser, 309 Sutter St., San Francisco, cured of Lumbago and Sciatica after suffering for 35 years.

A. J. Hammond, 330 Pine St., cured of general debility. Is an old man, but now strong and vigorous.

Tell me where you are and I'll give you the name of a man in your own town that I've cured. I've got cures in every town.

That's enough. You need the cure. I've got it. You want it. I'll give it to you. Come and get it now.

The pleasurable moments of this life are too few, so don't throw any away. While there's a chance to be husky and strong, to throw out your chest and look at yourself in the glass and say, "I'm a man," do it, and don't waste time thinking about it.

I've got a beautiful book, full of good, honest talk about how men are made big and noble, and I'll send it to you free, sealed, if you send this ad.

"BEWARE OF MEN"—A DRAMA SERMON

"YE WITHOUT SIN CAST THE FIRST STONE"

Commencing tomorrow evening the Ellefords will present a companion play to Hall Caine's celebrated "Christian," in Fitzgerald Murphy's "Beware of Men." It is a powerful story of woman's wrongs and man's perfidy. The author has written a clever piece in "Beware of Men." The play starts in attractively, holds its interest constantly and has many comedy episodes and thrilling incidents. The settings will all be had from the different places where the action of the piece takes place. The scene of the drama shifts from a farm on the banks of the Hudson to one of the gilded resorts of New York city, Jerry McCauley's Mission and other localities, and finally back to the farm and the forgiving old father. The entire company perhaps appear to their best advantage. "Beware of Men" is a play that every one should witness, as the moral attached to it is most wholesome.

The sombre side of the play is enlivened by lots of rollicking comedy and specialties.

Wednesday night the comedy drama "Wanted the Earth," and commencing Friday "New York Day by Day." At the matinee next Saturday "Little Red Riding Hood."
